Genoa schools Board weighing options for Nov. ballot

By Larry Limpf
News Editor
news@presspublications.com

With the possibility of additional cuts in state funds looming, the Genoa school board is considering options for placing levies on the November ballot.

The board last week approved a resolution of necessity for seeking renewal of a 3.9-mill, 5-year operating levy that generates about $605,000 annually.

Bill Nye, district treasurer, said the board intends to place the issue on the ballot as a renewal but will convert it to a continuous levy instead of a term issue. The levy was originally passed in 2005 and has been renewed twice since then.

By having a continuous levy not requiring renewal votes, Nye said the district would save about $3,000-$5,000 in election costs.

The board is also weighing options for additional millage but is waiting for more information from the state on funding for schools. The Genoa district lost about $230,000 in state funding this spring when Gov. Mike DeWine - citing the shutdown of a large segment of the economy due to the coronavirus - announced plans to balance the fiscal year 2020 state budget with $775 million in general revenue fund reductions, including reducing revenues for K-12 schools by about $300.4 million.

The state 2020 fiscal year ends June 30.

Nye and other treasurers have been trying to discern what the state plans to do in fiscal 2021.

"Everything right now is pointing to bigger cuts," Nye said. "But the COVID-19 is putting a lot of unknowns out there. We don't know what the state is going to do. Hopefully we will know more when our July board

School board to decide on another levy

By Kelly J. Kaczala
News Editor
kkaczala@presspublications.com

The Oregon school board has a deadline of July 24 to decide whether to put an operating levy on the November General Election ballot.

Voters defeated a 4.95-mill operating levy earlier this year by 55 percent to 43 percent.

"At this time, the Oregon Board of Education has not made any final decisions," said Oregon Schools Superintendent Hal Gregory. "As Superintendent, I am recommending a levy for the same reasons I recommended it for this past March. As we predicted in previous forecasts, Oregon City Schools will need operating money moving forward to sustain and maintain all of our programs and services for students."

Current and upcoming budget cuts by the State of Ohio have impacted the district's five-year forecast negatively, accelerating negative cash balances, said Gregory.

"The district has made significant reductions for the upcoming school year to help offset the forecasted budget cuts and then some, but soon, we will not be able to provide the programs and services our students and families are accustomed to without community financial support. Our school system, our teachers and all employees provide a vital service to our community and having a strong school system has never been more important to the communities and families," he said.

Treasurer Jane Fruth said the school board has already made $1.3 million in budget cuts for next year.

More cuts are expected. "We've run some scenarios as far as how much we will need to cut if we ran a levy in the fall, or ran it in the spring," she said. "But no decision has been made yet."

Among the cuts already made by the school board include administrative salary freezes, an administrative secretary position, a special education supervisor position, vacant positions that will not be filled, a custodian position, a maintenance position, a tech position, summer workers, and reductions in the budget.

"If we do nothing, if we don't go on the ballot at all in the fall or spring, then there will be the need for $3 million more in cuts," she said.

Revenues

The district can expect property tax collections to be down due to a struggling economy. And revenue from the casino is expected to be 40 percent lower due to the closure of casinos during the COVID-19 crisis.

"We estimate our revenue to be down by $2.5 million next year," said Fruth. "So we're getting hit. There have been discussions how we're going to come back next year. We are trying to be proactive."

Cost savings include lower building expenses because staff and students were working from home in March and April, she said.

"We also have reductions in some of

Weighing options

meeting comes around.”

He said the board is considering two options for new millage in November: a 4.9-mill or an 8.9-mill issue. Each would be for operating expenses and have five year terms if placed on the ballot.

A 4.9-mill levy would generate about $930,000 annually and an 8.9-mill levy would generate about $1.7 million annually, Nye said.

The 4.9-mill levy “would give us a little bit of a breather” while the 8.9-mill levy would provide “six to seven years of positive balances” in the operating budget, he said.

The Genoa board is scheduled to meet July 21 when it will consider resolutions to proceed with the levies. Nye said he will be meeting with the board’s finance committee prior to then and hoped to have more information for the committee.

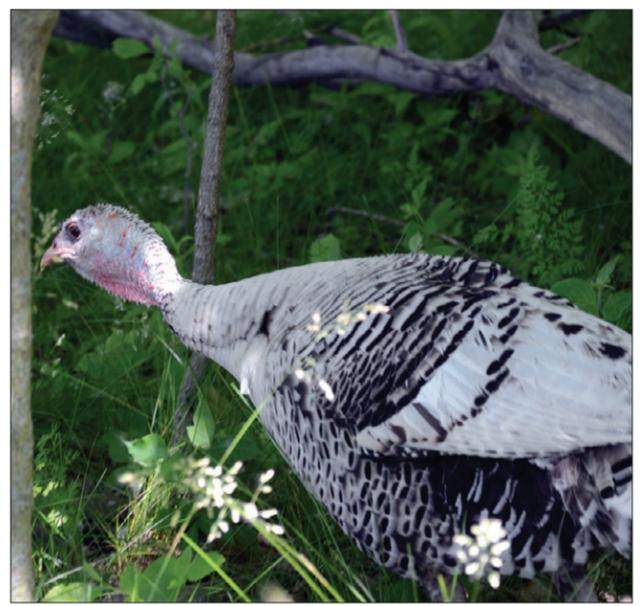

“This is unprecedented. It is making it tough for us moving forward and planning,” he said.

Other local districts and the amounts of their reduced state funding in fiscal 2020 are:

- Lake - $296,816
- Eastwood - $325,615
- Northwood - $144,861
- Gibsonburg - $147,815
- Woodmore - $198,679
- Benton-Carroll-Salem- $360,720
- Oregon - $642,438

The cuts average about $207 per student, with the highest, Benton-Carroll-Salem schools, cut by $251 per student and Oregon and Gibsonburg the lowest, $186 per student.

The bulk of the state’s revenue comes from income taxes and sales taxes, which reflect employment and commercial activity.

our supply expenses. The buses weren’t running, so there was no gas usage. It saved us a little bit,” she said.

State cuts

The state cut $642,000 in funding for the district, said Fruth.

“For next year, we were told to plan on three times that amount. We have no idea what the state is doing with the budget next year,” she said.

“We’re being hit very hard right now,” said Gregory. “Essentially, it’s accelerating our negative cash balances. Those cash balances we have for the next two years are trimmed down tremendously because of anticipated budget cuts. If those don’t come through, we’ll be thrilled. But either way, just like before when we made a decision to put a levy on the ballot, we’re still in need of a levy because of our five-year forecast balances at the end of each year.”

For example, in the 2022-23 school year, the updated five-year forecast predicts a negative cash balance of $2.5 million. Prior to the pandemic, the five-year forecast predicted a negative cash balance of $87,000.

“That’s a big jump,” said Gregory.

Primary election

Ohio held a mail-only primary until April 28 after COVID-19 concerns delayed in-person voting for the March 17 primary.

Fewer people voted as a result of the pandemic, which hurt the chances of the levy’s passage, said Gregory.

“It’s hard to determine how the levy would have fared had there been a normal election” said Gregory. People believe both ways – it would have failed, it would have passed. We have no way of knowing. What we do know is that the absentee ballot process did not work. In other words, not many people took advantage of that. Fewer people voted due to COVID-19.”

The last time voters approved an operating levy in the district was on Nov. 3, 2015. The district continues to collect on that levy annually.

New health commissioner

The Ottawa County Board of Health has selected a new health commissioner who will replace the current retiring health commissioner, Nancy Osborn effective July 1.

Jerry Bingham

The newly appointed health commissioner is the current Director of Environmental Health/ Deputy Health Commissioner, Jerry Bingham, who has been involved in public health for more than 23 years, including 4 years at the Ottawa County department.

He graduated from Bowling Green State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1995 and from the University of Toledo/Bowling Green State University with a Masters of Public Health in 2017.

He has received several professional awards including the Northwest Ohio Environmental Health Association Outstanding Sanitarian of the year in 2012 and the Wood County Health Department Achievement Award in 2010. He also served as the President of the Ohio Environmental Health Association (2015) and two terms as Director of the Northwest Ohio Environmental Health Association (2006, 2013).

Road closure for library project

The block of High Street between Croghan and Garrison streets will be closed for more archaeological surveys as the Birchard Public Library prepares to add a western wing to the main library building in Fremont.

At a June 4 meeting, Fremont City Council approved vacating the block of High Street as well as an undeveloped alley that runs east and west through the library property. The northern block of High Street will be permanently closed as a through street when the library building project commences.

Because the library project will be partially funded by a grant and a loan from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, archaeological surveys must be conducted to assure that the addition will not have any adverse effect on the historic Fort Stephenson property or any historic properties surrounding the library.

A Phase 1 survey, conducted in January, included ground penetrating radar (GPR) as well as hand-digging at several spots. The additional surveys will examine four anomaly areas detected by GPR in the first survey, and will also include digging several trenches across the north end of High Street to determine if there is any trace left of the western wall of Fort Stephenson.

Closure of the block of High Street is expected to begin on July 6. Entry to the library will be available from Garrison Street.

Mosquito-control grants awarded

The Wood County Health Department and the Toledo Area Sanitary District are among 45 entities that will share $795,070 in grant funding from Ohio EPA for mosquito control activities, including more than $139,000 to remove scrap tires, which can become breeding grounds for mosquito larvae. The funding will help mitigate the spread of mosquito-borne viruses such as Zika, West Nile and La Cross Encephalitis.

"Ohio EPA is pleased to continue offering funding for mosquito control measures that will help local health districts reduce the risks of mosquito-borne viruses in their communities, including cleaning up scrap tires that can become mosquito breeding grounds," Ohio EPA Director Laurie A. Stevenson said.

Grant recipients and the amounts of each grant are listed at epa.ohio.gov/Portals/47/media/20-21MCGFundingRecommendations.pdf.

Mosquito control grants specifically target:

- mosquito surveillance;
- larval control;
- adult mosquito control, such as spraying where mosquito presence poses a risk to public health;
- community outreach;
- breeding source reduction, including trash or tire removal.

Grants are being issued in collaboration with the Ohio Department of Health's larger effort to mitigate the potential for an outbreak of mosquito-borne viruses. Over the last four years, Ohio EPA and the Ohio Department of Health have awarded $5.1 million to local health departments and communities for mosquito control programs.

Senate passes bill protecting religious garb

By Press staff writer

The Ohio Senate has approved a bill written to protect freedom of religious expression for student athletes.

Senate Bill 288, sponsored by Sen. Theresa Gavarone, passed in the chamber Wednesday by a vote of 31-0.

The bill prohibits public or non-public schools or athletic conferences from adopting rules prohibiting the wearing of religious apparel by students participating in interscholastic or extracurricular activities.

Administrators or school officials can limit the apparel if it presents a danger to participants but the bill requires officials or administrators to offer reasonable accommodations.

The bill also provides civil immunity for school districts, conferences and organizations for decisions made about wearing the apparel during a competition and specifies whoever violates the bill by obstructing wearing the apparel is subject to civil action for damages.

“The senate sent a strong, unanimous message... about all Ohio student-athletes right to religious expression,” Gavarone said. “We are one big step closer to ensuring that not a student in this state has to choose between playing the sport they love and their religion.”

She said the bill was inspired by Noor Alexandria Abukaram, a Sylvania Northview athlete who was disqualified from a high school cross-country race because she wore her hijab during the competition.

The bill now goes to the House of Representatives.

A December 2019 sports uniform regulation of the Ohio High School Athletics Association regarding religious headwear says that if a head coach represents to the referee in advance of the start of a competition that a player doesn't want to expose his or her uncovered head, the referee must approve a covering or wrap provided that:
 -It doesn't fundamentally alter the sport
 -The covering isn't abrasive, hard or dangerous to another participant
 -It isn't attached in a way that it is likely to come off during play.

Trail plans proceeding

Construction of a fitness trail at Veterans Park in Oak Harbor is set to begin in the fall, Randy Genzman, village administrator, said last week, adding that the design phase and bidding for contracts are expected to be completed this month.

"The project is intended to go forward at this point," he said.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources has approved a grant to partially fund the project and the Oak Harbor Development Group is raising funds to match the grant up to $48,000.

To date, the development group has received $8,537 from the St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church Endowment Trust Fund; the U.S. Bank Foundation Community Possible Grant, $1,500 and $2,175 from the Facebook Giving Tuesday program and general donations.

Families make community policing job much easier

The families of many Lake Township residents have made my job as a community policing officer much easier these past three months. During this time, I have spent much of my time contacting these residents to check on them, making sure their grocery and other needs are being met.

An overwhelming majority of the residents have regularly told me they have family members making trips to the store to keep them stocked up with food and other necessities.

This tells me our township residents have family members who truly care about one another.

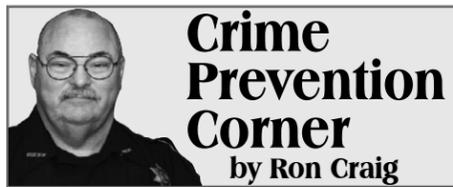

These close bonds with family, especially between grandparents and grandchildren, took me back to when one of my own grandmothers was alive. She and I were especially close, and I spent a lot of time with her.

As I talked to the elders, I could tell in their voices the enthusiasm they experienced whenever they had contact with their family members. The children and grandchildren provided not only a lifeline to food but a link to socialization.

Some of the younger family members had to drive a good distance to get to the residents' homes, but they still cared enough to do it. This is part of a deeper meaning of "family."

During these past three months, I have had the pleasure of having some great conversations with our township's Neighborhood Watch members and others. I think this has drawn me much closer to these residents as many of these conversations have lasted a half hour or more.

To me, this was a sign some were lacking in socialization as stay-at-home orders were in place.

Crime Prevention Corner by Ron Craig

Many of our residents, particularly the elderly ones, are still very apprehensive about going outside their homes again. This is completely understandable as many have underlying health conditions that could make contracting the coronavirus a very serious situation.

For this reason, I will continue, at least for a while, to make contact with the residents and I am looking forward to seeing them again at our Neighborhood Watch meetings when the time is appropriate.

On a sad note, we lost one of our Neighborhood Watch members during the stay-at-home orders. She was in her 90s and had a good life, but was very lonely after her husband passed away about a year ago. I will sincerely miss her.

I encourage you to maintain close contact with your mother, father, grandmothers and grandfathers, even as restrictions ease up. If you could have been part of the conversations I have had with them the past three months, you would understand how much it really means to all of them.

Health commissioner taking post at BGSU

Wood County Health Commissioner Ben Batey has accepted an offer to become the Chief Health Officer of Bowling Green State University.

However, Batey intends to continue working with the Wood County Health Department through a proposed partnership between Bowling Green State University and the health department.

Batey submitted his resignation to the board of health on Wednesday. He will remain in his role as health commissioner until July 24.

The board will conduct a search for a new health commissioner. The position will be posted at www.WoodCountyHealth.org.

"It has been an absolute honor to serve as the Wood County Health Commissioner and to work with such a great board of health, staff, and community partners," Batey said. "We have accomplished many wonderful achievements to benefit health in Wood County over the years. I'm looking forward to continuing to support the Wood County Health Department and improving public health partnerships in my new role at BGSU."

Rehirings considered

The Woodmore school board is considering rehiring two employees who are retiring at its July 23 regular monthly meeting.

Michele Albright and Whitney Flick, both teachers, have submitted their resignations for retirement for July 1 and June 1 respectively.

The board is considering reemploying Flick effective Aug. 26 and Albright on Sept. 1.

The meeting is scheduled to start at 6 p.m. in the high school media center, 633 Fremont St., Elmore.

Demolition OK'd

The Village of Walbridge has approved contracting with Mike's Hauling and Demolition for $7,500 to tear down an abandoned residence at 115 Perry St.

Mayor Ed Kolanko said the village has been unable to locate a relative of the property owner, who has passed away, and the home has become a nuisance.

The village will likely try to recoup the costs of the demolition through a sheriff's sale, the mayor said.

New location

Habitat for Humanity of Wood County has relocated from Trinity United Methodist Church in Bowling Green to 326 Industrial Parkway. The mailing address is P.O. Box 235, Bowling Green, OH 43402.

An open house and ribbon-cutting will be held at a future date. Visit wchabitat.org for more details.

Don't put yourself down; it's a waste of time

Do you ever put yourself down with what you say to yourself? It's not uncommon for people to put themselves down through negative self-talk. They will often say things more negative to themselves than they would accept from a stranger. Putting yourself down is a problem generating negative syndrome.

Negative things people have said about you tend to produce insecurity. Insecurity, or a negative self-image can lead you to put yourself down. Ridicule has the same debilitating effect. You put yourself down by statements such as "I can't," "I'm stupid," "No one likes me," "I'm useless," "people laugh at me," "I'll never amount to anything," or "I never get anything right."

Putting yourself down creates numerous problems. Your outlook becomes negatively tainted. You won't feel good about yourself. Your enjoyment of activities can be diminished. Your self-esteem and self-confidence can be further diminished. When you put yourself down, you are more accepting of other people putting you down also.

Learning how to stop putting yourself down is a worthwhile endeavor which significantly boosts your self-

Dare to Live

by Bryan Golden

team. Start with a list of your accomplishments. Anything you've done qualifies. No achievement is too small or insignificant. Proudly take credit for each item on your list.

Next, itemize all of your good qualities along with the aspects you like about yourself. Don't dismiss this step by claiming there's nothing worth noting. Are you nice? Do you have a pleasant disposition? Are you willing to help others? Are you friendly? Do you have a sense of humor? Are you mechanical, artistic, musical, or athletic? Each personal trait which you have been taking for granted should be identified.

Now, enumerate everything you have achieved. Don't sell yourself short. Include family, employment, education, skills, knowledge, and abilities. All components are important. People who put themselves down overlook these aspects in favor of things they believe are lacking.

Pay attention to exactly what you say to yourself. This conversation programs your brain. Purge any negative self-talk. Negative self-talk is destructive. You become so habituated to your self-talk over time that you are not aware of what you are saying, or the impact it's having.

Purging your negative self-talk requires constant vigilance. Don't let any negative statements slide. Avoid making excuses which attempt to justify putting yourself down. Changing your thoughts is imperative.

Problems are a normal part of life. Putting yourself down enables problems to get the best of you because you are not solution oriented. Once you identify a problem, devote all of your energy to finding a solution. Don't waste any time complaining.

Comparing yourself to others accomplishes nothing, so don't do it. One aspect of putting yourself down is telling yourself that you're not as good as, not as smart as, not as attractive as, or not as rich as someone else. It's your life, not a competition.

Mistakes are not a reason to put yourself down. They are however a great source of learning. Mistakes point out some issue which needs to be adjusted. Learn from your mistakes rather than becoming dejected.

Never accept guilt for taking care of yourself. Ignore those who try to make you feel guilty for being OK. Putting yourself down in the hope of being accepted is destructive behavior. No one will have a better opinion of you because you put yourself down.

Believe in yourself. If you have been putting yourself down, realize that you are a better person than you have been giving yourself credit for. When you stop putting yourself down, you will start feeling better about yourself.

Plan to vote

To the editor: The 2020 Ohio primary election was to have been held on March 17, but due to Covid-19 was postponed to April 28. Instead of a go-to-the-polls election, this primary was a vote by mail election.

Voters first had to get the absentee ballot application form either from their board of elections website, or track one down. The application had to be completed and returned to the board. Then the board mailed back to the voter the actual ballot. All this had to be accomplished within one month.

The Ohio Primary in April 2020 was a disaster.

*The election was not well publicized.

*Voters did not know what to do to participate in the election.

*Some voters did not have access to a computer to print the absentee ballot application.

*Some voters, especially seniors, had never voted by absentee ballot before and did not want to change.

*Some ballots never made it to voters in time to complete the ballot and send it back.

*Some ballots were mailed back by the voter in time, but never made it to the board until after the election. If there was no postmark the ballots were not counted.

*Some voters went to a board office primary election day to vote, but unless they were disabled, homeless, or hadn't received a requested ballot, their ballots were thrown away.

Ohio threw away 220 ballots voted this way.

There are lessons to be learned to prepare us for the November election. Plan to vote early. Plan to vote by absentee ballot. Print your absentee ballot application on-line at www.ohioSOS.gov.

If you can't print the ballot request at home or at a library, call the board of elec-

When you receive the form, complete it and send it back to the board. This will put you on an early list to receive your ballot as soon as law allows them to be mailed.

When you receive your ballot, fill it out and return it to the board. Don't let a pandemic, post office problems or fewer voting sites cause you to miss your opportunity to vote.

Good and bad apples

To the editor: Can we all agree that every profession since time eternal has had both "good apples" and "bad apples" inside their ranks?

If a doctor is sued for malpractice, should we then get rid of all the doctors and simply scrounge around, hoping we can find someone to help us when we are sick?

If a teacher assaults a child, should we then defund all the schools and fire all the teachers? Crooked lawyers, bad nurses, shady business owners, the list goes on and on. The news has been filled with examples of what it means to be a bad apple.

As with all professions, our police departments have been dealing with this as well. Every profession must root the bad apples out. I hope we can thank our local police officers for their service, give them a wave as we pass them on the road, maybe buy them a gift card to grab a coffee after a long shift.

If our 80-year-old mother was having her door busted down at 3 a.m., I'm sure we can all agree we would appreciate one of those good apples showing up to protect her. I don't know about you, but I would like to be judged on my own actions. I do not want to pay the consequences for someone else's choices.

Life is too short to be lumping people into groups.

The U.S. Senate recently passed the Great American Outdoors Act, which included Sen. ## Corn growers can't count on exports; ethanol is key

By Gale Lush, Chairman of the American Corn Growers Association

Counting on corn exports has always been a questionable strategy.

U.S. trade policy, aimed at China is attempting to protect intellectual property rights of big corporations, but has boomeranged against farmers, due to Chinese retaliation, that has led to their investment in competitor exporting countries. Corn exports are extremely unpredictable and it's getting worse.

Fluctuating currency values where the dollar has gotten stronger causes U.S. farm and manufactured goods exports to be more expensive in world markets. Given that reality our only serious demand growth strategy is ethanol. It is homegrown and untouchable by trade wars and a high dollar.

Ethanol has been a major, annual domestic consumer of 5.5 billion bushels of corn. Ethanol is also a massive U.S. economic and infrastructure development strategy, if our political leaders will only get on-board and use it to its maximum potential. It's already a proven success. The ethanol industry is a major economic driver for the rural economy. According to ABF Economics the manufacturing activity alone in the ethanol industry employed nearly 366,000 and contributed $14.5 billion to the U. S. economy in 2018.

Ethanol is a net energy producer and helps clean the air by reducing toluene, benzene and other cancer-causing additives in gasoline. With modern high tech, low and no tillage farming practices, and cover crops, corn farmers are improving the environment as well, while conserving and improving water quality as reported in a 2020 documentary by University of Nebraska Journalism students. "Land and Water: Farmers Adapt to Climate Change" is posted on the ACGF website at WWW.ACGF.ORG."

U.S. trade wars with China and other countries are causing corn and soybean production expansion in countries like Brazil whose currency, the Real, is making all kinds of lows against the U.S. dollar thereby making Brazil a stronger competitor in foreign import markets.

South American countries are a clear ex-

are extremely

ample of this trend. Other countries are also taking advantage of the fact that a strong dollar makes U.S. commodities higher priced in the world market. This trend is further confirmation that U.S. policymakers in the Administration and Congress must recognize that ethanol expansion is not only an opportunity, it is an essential strategy to fix the rural economy. The Administration and Congress need to do what it takes to put a stop to oil refineries getting unwarranted ethanol waivers. That has to stop immediately.

According to USDA's Export Sales Report

accumulated U.S. corn exports as of May 21, 2020 have only reached 1.1 billion bushels vs. 1.56 billion bushels at the same time in 2019. USDA projects current marketing year 2019/20 corn exports to reach only 1.775 billion bushels, down from 2.065 billion bushels last marketing year and way down from the 2.438 billion bushels of exports reached in 2017/2018. That means corn exports this year will be 663 million bushels less than just two years ago. This weak export performance is what comes from trade wars."

Without ethanol-driven corn demand growth over the past 20 years the U.S. farm economy would have been in a constant state of economic recession. Given the extreme economic stress that farmers and the rural sector are under now, it is time for agricultural and rural groups to aggressively speak up and push for a major expansion of ethanol blending in gasoline. We need a nationwide 15 percent blend immediately with a target of having a 30 percent blend nationwide as soon as possible. It's the only sure way to drive up domestic corn demand, raise corn prices and farm income and help mitigate unreliable corn export demand.

Use conservation to protect

By Terry Cosby & Leonard Hubert

Pollinators, such as honeybees, bumblebees, butterflies, birds, bats, flies and many others, play a critical role in crop production. Without pollinators, we wouldn't have many crops.

During the week of June 22-28, the nation celebrated these iconic and crucial pollinators during National Pollinator Week. This year's theme is "Pollinators, Plants, People and Planet."

Pollination occurs when pollen grains are moved between two flowers of the same species, or within a single flower by wind or insects and animals. Successful pollination results in healthy fruit and fertile seeds.

The extensive and critical world of crop pollinators is an $18 billion a year industry. About 75 percent of crop plants are pollinated by billions of animals and insects every year.

Many federal, state and local government agencies, non-government organizations and universities have launched extensive efforts to protect pollinators, especially honeybees and the Monarch butterfly.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture works closely with farmers, forest landowners and other private landowners to increase pollinator habitat in targeted areas nationwide.

The Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP), through USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service, offers financial incentives to agricultural producers and private forest landowners who enhance pollinator habitat by voluntarily implementing conservation practices.

The Conservation Reserve Program also can be used to enhance habitat to protect pollinators. Administered by USDA's Farm Service Agency. CRP is a land conservation program in which enrolled landowners remove sensitive land from agricultural production and plant species that will improve environmental health and quality.

As owners and stewards of the land, many farmers and private forest landowners manage their natural resources to work to achieve their production goals, they are protecting the rich and diverse ecology on or near their operations.

When we protect pollinators, we protect our ability to grow food. We thank our farmers and private forest landowners who offer a safe haven for pollinators and grow the products we enjoy.

You can help protect pollinators by doing the following:

-Plant appropriate vegetation. Use conservation practices and create habitat that sustains and enhances pollinators on the farm, forest or the yard.

-Use pesticides, herbicides and insecticides carefully on and off the farm and private forests. Keep your operation pollinator friendly.

-Protect flowering plants and potential pollinator nesting sites such as areas of undisturbed ground and native vegetation.

-Do your part to help protect pollinators. By taking action to diversify and beautify your operation or property, you could ensure that many fruits and vegetables are available and plentiful for future generations for many years to come.

For more information about pollinators and what you can do in Ohio, please contact your local USDA service center.

Coronavirus aid available

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Sonny Perdue has announced the USDA Farm Service Agency has already approved more than $545 million in payments to producers who have applied for the Coronavirus Food Assistance Program.

FSA began taking applications May 26, and the agency has received over 86,000 applications for the relief program. Applications will be accepted through Aug. 28.

"The coronavirus has hurt America's farmers, ranchers, and producers, and these payments directed by President Trump will help this critical industry weather the current pandemic so they can continue to plant and harvest a safe, nutritious, and affordable crop for the American people," said Secretary Perdue. "We have tools and resources available to help producers understand the program and enable them to work with Farm Service Agency staff to complete applications as smoothly and efficiently as possible and get payments into the pockets of our patriotic farmers."

Through CFAP, the USDA is making available $16 billion in financial assistance to producers of agricultural commodities who have suffered a five-percent-or-greater price decline due to COVID-19 and face additional significant marketing costs as a result of lower demand, surplus production, and disruptions to shipping patterns and the orderly marketing of commodities.

In order to do this, producers will receive 80 percent of their maximum total payment upon approval of the application. The remaining portion of the payment, not to exceed the payment limit, will be paid at a later date nationwide, as funds remain available.

Getting Help from FSA

New customers seeking one-on-one support with the CFAP application process can call 877-508-8364 to speak directly with a USDA employee ready to offer general assistance. This is a recommended first step before a producer engages the team at the FSA county office at their local USDA Service Center.

Producers can download the CFAP application and other eligibility forms from farmers.gov/cfap. Also, on that webpage, producers can find a payment calculator to help producers identify sales and inventory records needed to apply and calculate potential payments. Producers self-certify their records when applying for CFAP and that documentation is not submitted with the application. However, producers may be asked for their documentation to support the certification of eligible commodities, so producers should retain the information used to complete their application.

Those who use the online calculator tool will be able to print a pre-filled CFAP application, sign it, and submit it to your local FSA office either electronically or via hand delivery through an office drop box.

FSA county offices will be able to answer detailed questions and help producers apply quickly and efficiently through phone and online tools. Find contact information for your local office at farmers.gov/cfap.

Terra State announces plans to reopen for fall semester

Terra State Community College will be reopening its campus for in-person classes as regularly scheduled on Monday, Aug. 17 for the Fall 2020 semester.

"We want our students to be able to come to campus and receive the full Terra State experience," said President Dr. Ron Schumacher.

The college plans to hold 14 weeks of in-person classes this fall. After Thanksgiving break, Terra State will conduct online-only classes for the remainder of the semester, Schumacher said. "This way, they can stay in isolation with their families and finish the rest of their semester online," he said. The reason for this is to avoid a surge on campus.

"We are optimistic, based upon current modeling, that some version of on-campus classes and residential housing will return in the fall," said Vice President of Academic Affairs Bill Taylor.

According to Taylor, the leadership team is creating multiple "movable" plans that can be implemented in order to be prepared with "multiple contingencies" as the new academic year arrives. "Our guiding principles are straight forward and simple," he said. "The health and safety of our students, faculty and staff are our highest priority." The college has continued implementing safety precautions around campus to ensure students are safe when they return. Entrance to buildings will be limited to a few locations where all campus visitors will be screened by a facial scanning device called Speedface+. These devices identify a person, make sure all campus visitors are wearing a facial covering and scan for a temperature.

In addition, the college is utilizing ozone machines around campus and in the residence hall. These machines kill coronavirus by creating O3 (ozone) through an electric current process. This process breaks down odors, microorganisms and other pollutants leaving behind a fresh scent.

...receive the full Terra State experience.’

To ensure students will maintain proper social distance, there will be a 10-person occupancy limit in its smaller classrooms, but more than 10 people may be allowed in the larger classrooms.

Also, some computers have been taken offline in the computer labs, library and other common areas. Each classroom will be supplied with disinfectant, back-up personal protection equipment (PPE) and equipment cleaning guidance for students and faculty.

"Employees will be returning to campus to work beginning July 6," said Schumacher. They will work from home Monday and Friday and work on campus Tuesday through Thursday from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. The hope, Schumacher said, is that all employees will be back to their regular on-campus schedule by the middle of August.

"Governmental guidance regarding the parameters for in-person classes and on-campus living is still in its infancy," Taylor said. "For this reason, we are building a plan that will allow us to be flexible."

Three Lake graduates honored as Lake Distinguished Alumni

Lake Schools announced and congratulated three awardees of the 2020 Distinguished Alumni Awards. This year's honorees include:

• Brad Deal, class of 1985. At Lake, Deal was a member of the National Honor Society, the vice-president of his junior and senior classes, and earned six varsity letters in cross country, basketball, and baseball.

He also began working part-time mowing grass and cleaning offices at Rudolph Libbe, which began a connection that has continued to this day.

He then attended Ohio State University, graduating with 1990 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering. That would also lead to a loyal devotion to OSU and the Buckeyes.

After college, Deal returned to Lake Township and began his career with Rudolph Libbe contractors as a project engineer. In 1992, while working in Florida in the wake of Hurricane Andrew, he met a girl from Chile, Susan, and the pair were later married.

Today, they live in Moline as semi-empty-nesters. Their daughter, Kristen, a 2016 Lake graduate, and daughter Rachel, a 2018 Lake graduate, both chose to continue their education at OSU.

Deal's career at Rudolph Libbe progressed from project engineer, to assistant project manager, to project manager, to his current position as vice president of project management, where he now supervises 32 project managers and project engineers.

During his career, Deal has been involved in construction projects totaling more than $1 billion, including the Walgreen's Distribution Center, Chrysler Toledo North Assembly Plant (the new Jeep plant), Levis Commons and First Solar.

The jewel of all his projects, he says, is the new Lake High School. In the aftermath of the June 5, 2010 tornado, Deal led the effort to secure the site, assess the damage, coordinate the initial cleanup and enlist the assistance of Rudolph Libbe to help with the initial demolition and repairs across the campus. He then served as the project executive on the $30 million project.

Brad Deal

Lori Ernsthause

Marty Pennington

Deal has also coached youth T-ball, soccer, and basketball, and he has supported the school's academic and athletic programs.

• Lori (Huber) Ernsthause, was the co-valedictorian of the class of 1999, was on the High Honor Roll all four years and was a member of the National Honor Society. She also earned 10 varsity letters and was named Lake Senior Female Athlete of the Year.

She attended the University of Toledo, graduating cum laude in 2003 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Pharmaceutical Sciences. She continued her education at the UT College of Pharmacy from 2003-2005 and earned a Doctor of Pharmacy degree, magna cum laude.

In 2006, she completed a Primary Care Residency Program at Toledo Hospital and W.W. Knight Family Practice. She also started practicing inpatient pharmacy at Mercy St. Vincent Medical Center, and continues to do so, on a per diem basis, to this day.

In 2007, she began a distinguished career at the University of Findlay as an assistant professor of pharmacy practice and Director of Experiential Education in the College of Pharmacy. In 2011, she was promoted to associate professor of pharmacy practice. In 2015, she was appointed chairman of the Department of Pharmacy Practice, and in 2018, she was appointed Associate Dean of Curricular Affairs, College of Pharmacy.

Ernsthause's practice areas of interest include diabetes, lipid and anticoagulation management, and skin disorders. She currently teaches several pharmacology, pathophysiology and therapeutics disease classes and coordinates the advanced self-care course.

She is a member of the American College of Clinical Pharmacy and five other professional organizations. She has authored or co-authored seven peer-reviewed publications and 15 peer-reviewed posters and presentations in the field of pharmacology.

Ernsthause and her husband, Wes, reside near Pemberville with their two daughters, Emily and Lainey. They are members of Bethlehem Lutheran Church.

Since 2008, Ernsthause has been a volunteer side walker and board member at Serenity Farm, an equine therapy program for children and adults with disabilities, located in Luckey.

• Marty Pennington was the salutatorian of the LHS Class of 1986. He was the outstanding senior in math and social studies, a member of the National Honor Society and also won a National Football Foundation Scholar Athlete Award.

He earned five varsity letters at Lake, and he also loved vocal music. He was in school musicals, show choir and concert choir. Later, he sang first tenor in a popular Southern Gospel Quartet called "The Gospels."

After graduation, he turned down a congressional appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point and enrolled at Bowling Green State University, where he attended from 1986-1988. He then transferred to the Cincinnati College of Mortuary Sciences, graduating in 1989 with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Mortuary Science.

From 1989-1995, he worked at Witzler-Shank Funeral Home in Walbridge as a Licensed Funeral Director. In 1995, he was called into the ministry at Main Street Church in Walbridge. He was Main Street's first worship pastor from 1995-2005. In 2005, he became the lead pastor, and earned a master's degree in Pastoral Ministry from Huntington University.

As lead pastor at Main Street, Pennington led and oversaw the building of the new church in Moline on a 40-acre campus, where about 800 now worship every week.

Under his leadership, Main Street Church built a home for a needy family in Walbridge, and after the 2010 tornado, Main Street became the hub for Lake Township relief efforts, winning several awards, including the Glamm Volunteer of the Year Award from the United Way.

As lead pastor, he also opened Main Street Church for use by Lake Local Schools for concerts, musicals, plays and other school events.

Pennington served on the Executive Leadership Team of the Church of the United Brethren in Christ Denomination for eight years and he is currently on the Higher Education Leadership Team. In 2018, he was appointed to the Board of Trustees of Huntington University in Huntington, Indiana.

He is also actively involved at Lake Schools. He helps keep the scoreboard at football and basketball games, and he serves as a spiritual advisor to the Flyer football team.

He and his wife, Amy, live on Bradner Rd., where they raised four children, Nathan, Nicole, Emily and Marty, all Lake graduates.

Bergman Ohio's Coach of the Year

It was never announced at the state wrestling meet because the meet never happened, but Genoa coach Bob Bergman is the Division III Coach of the Year.

Bergman was in his ninth season as the head coach at Genoa. During this time he has a 259-55 dual meet record, which includes winning the OHSAA D-III dual meet state championships in 2018 and 2019 seasons.

His teams have won seven consecutive conference championships, six sectional championships, two district championships and placed in the Top 10 five times at the individual state tournament. The Comets won back to back state titles in the state individual tournament in 2018 and 2019 while earning runner-up honors in 2017.

His 2019 squad broke a 68-year OHSAA State Tournament Record as they crowned the Most Consecutive Individual State Champions in a given year (5) and set marks for the most state champions in D-III state tournament history (6). The Comets also set the all time D-III individual state tournament point record at 172 a season ago. Coach Bergman has coached 45 individual conference champions, 39 state qualifiers, 25 state placers, and 13 state champions.

Bergman says he would like to thank all of those who have supported him, starting with his "beautiful wife Nicole and three children Bo, Britian and Bauer." Additionally, Bergman would like to thank his family, especially his father, former Oak Harbor High School wrestling coach Joe Bergman Sr., for teaching him numerous life lessons through the sport of wrestling along with the Genoa community and school district for their outstanding support.

He says a huge debt of gratitude is also owed to the Genoa wrestling family, including the many coaches, parents and outstanding young men he has had the honor to coach, all of which have been a driving force within the Genoa program.

Bergman is a 2008 graduate of Bowling Green State University, earning a bachelor's degree in Middle Childhood Education. He also earned his master's degree in Administration from BGSU in 2013.

Another Rothert to become college athlete

By J. Patrick Eaken
Press Sports Editor
sports@presspublications.com

Woodmore graduate Claire Rothert comes from a strong family line of college athletes.

Her sister Carly graduated from Woodmore in 2018 and is now a high jumper and hurdler at Nova Southeastern University in Florida. Their cousin Lily, a Woodmore grad, plays soccer at Indiana Tech University.

Claire will follow their lead as she heads to Mount Vernon Nazarene University to play soccer. She says her sister and cousin were major influences on her athletic career.

"It was just amazing. I got to play a year with Lily and then two years with Carly, and it was just fun to have family on your team and have them pushing you in your sport," Claire said.

At Woodmore, Claire owns school records for career goals (79) and goals in a game (5). She has the second and third-best seasons for goals in a season with 25 in 2018 and 21 in 2019.

Claire was honorable mention All-Northern Buckeye Conference as a freshman, second team All-NBC as a sophomore, first team as a junior and senior and the league's Player of the Year as a senior.

She was also HM Division III all-district as a freshman, 2nd team all-district as a sophomore and junior, and as a senior she was second team All-Ohio, first team all-district and Alan Miller Jewelers All-Press Co-Player of the Year. Her senior year she played for first-year head coach Lauren Colangelo.

When she broke the school record for career goals, previously set by Taylor Avers (76), it came as a complete surprise to Rothert.

"I had no idea I was even close to the record," Rothert said.

Her success on the soccer field is owed in part to her dedication to the team.

"I am motivated to do well in soccer because I know my team needs me, so I always have to give it my all every second I am on the field," she said.

She contributed to many of the girls' team wins: scoring four goals against Riverdale and Otsego and three against Port Clinton.

At Woodmore, she was more than a soccer athlete, says her track coach Jim McMahon. McMahon believes Mount Vernon will be a good fit for Rothert.

"I think it's a great opportunity. Soccer is her primary sport. She set a couple school records for soccer. I have seen her play. Every sport she plays and competes in, she is a competitor. She's playing really hard, giving great effort. She's a scorer, striker and she never comes out of the game. She is one of those players who are trying to get a goal, or they are trying to set Claire up in every situation possible," McMahon said.

She also contributed to the track team, even though that chance did not happen her senior year because of the coronavirus pandemic.

"She's a sprinter, specifically hurdles, but also a high jumper if in a meet we want to score points," McMahon said. "She's just an explosive athlete who can be in a relay, sprints, and be successful in hurdles and also has the explosiveness and the bounce to be a decent high jumper. Her dad Todd owns the school record for high jump, and he's obviously coached the girls."

Every sport she plays and competes in, she is a competitor.

In track, Claire was three-time state qualifier in the 300 meter hurdles and also ran at state as part of Woodmore's 4x200 relay team in 2017. She is a three-time regional qualifier in the 300 hurdles, two-time in the 4x200 relay, and also qualified in the 4x400 relay and 100 hurdles. In 2017, she was district runner-up in the 300 hurdles.

As a junior, she was NBC runner-up in the 100 and 300 hurdles, she finished third in the 4x200 relay, 300 hurdles and 4x400 relay as a sophomore and freshman.

As for her sister Claire, in her first Peach Belt Championships on Embury-Riddle's Daytona Beach campus in April of 2019, she logged four scoring performances and two medals in her first PBC Championships, the freshman's day was highlighted by a silver-medal outing in the 100 meter hurdles, finishing with 14.96 with the tailwind just .03 away from the title. She also reached 10.91 meters to collect bronze in the triple jump. She was fifth in the high jump at 1.5 meters (just over four feet) and helped the Sharks 4x100 relay to sixth place as the squad's third leg.

This past April, the Nova Southeastern University athletic department held its Second Annual Sharky's Awards Show celebrating the 2019-20 season and commending student-athletes for their academic and athletic prowess in an entirely virtual awards show, and Carly was named the track team's Unsung Hero.

At Indiana Tech, cousin Lily appeared in 18 games as a junior, starting all of them. She scored twice and tallied two assists, logging 1,236 minutes of action.

Lily appeared in 20 games as a sophomore, starting all of them. She led the team in goals (7), assists (6) and points (20) and had one game-winning goal. She logged 1,764 minutes of action, the second-most on the team and was the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference's Offensive Player of the Week on October 24.

She started all 18 matches during her freshman campaign, recording 1,480 minutes of playing time with one goal, six assists, and 24 shot attempts.

Fifth Third Field to serve as Tigers training location

The Detroit Tigers announced that the team's alternate training location for the upcoming season will be in downtown Toledo.

The pool of players will begin working out at Fifth Third Field following the completion of spring training.

"We've had a longstanding relationship with the Tigers and their leadership team, and have been discussing this arrangement for several weeks," said Joe Napoli, Toledo Mud Hens president and CEO.

"Toledo is very excited to assist the Tigers and host team personnel as Major League Baseball (MLB) returns to play."

Detroit Tigers Executive Vice President of Baseball Operations and General Manager Al Avila said, "Toledo's proximity to Detroit and our 30-plus year affiliation made it a natural choice to serve as our alternate training location, and we're glad it came together."

"We appreciate the Mud Hens' organization for their partnership during this unique 2020 season."

"As plans become finalized and the players arrive in Toledo, we hope fans will be able to watch the workouts and intrasquad scrimmages," said Toledo Mud Hens General Manager, Erik Ibsen. "We will share those plans as soon as they become finalized. We are working with ProMedica, the Toledo-Lucas County Health Department and the State of Ohio to implement the necessary safety protocols set forth by the Governor's office."

The Tigers spring training is scheduled to begin on July 1 and opening day is slated for July 23-24. The arrival of players in Toledo is expected to be in conjunction with the beginning of the Major League season.

After a delayed start due to concerns for COVID-19, the National Walleye Tour Presented by Bass Pro Shops and Cabela's releases the updated schedule for the 2020 season.

Before each regular-season event and the championship, the NWT will detail new protective procedures beforehand to help protect anglers and tournament personnel.

The NWT will open on Green Bay at Oconto, Wisconsin, July 23-24, before moving on to Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, on August 13-14. The NWT will head to Garrison, North Dakota, to wrap up the regular season on September 10-11. The championship is set for October 14-16 on Lake Erie at Huron, Ohio.

Registration for the regular-season events opens June 22. Anglers who are participating in any of the numerous contingency prize programs are encouraged to submit all pertinent information at registration to remain eligible for any potential bonus money.

As always, all NWT events will deliver over 100 percent payback. A fully rigged Ranger 1880, plus cash, is guaranteed for first place at each event - a minimum total value of $61,000. First-place also offers potential boat and motor upgrades. Anglers that fish all three regular-season events, in addition to the top points leaders, will qualify for the three-day, entry-fee championship.

The National Walleye Tour includes unmatched television and media coverage, allowing a national audience to watch the action unfold from each event throughout the season. Airing on multiple national and regional networks, the NWT will be seen on the Pursuit Channel, CBS Sports Network, NBC SportsNet Chicago, Wild TV Canada, and the World Fishing Network.

Additionally, NWT has a large digital presence where episodes can be seen 24x7 on Outdoor Action TV, Pursuit UP, Fishing TV, and others; plus all weigh-ins are streamed live on Outdoor Action TV and social media.

National Walleye Tour events are made possible through the sponsorship and continued support of these brands: Bass Pro Shops, Cabela's, Ranger Boats, Mercury, Lucas Oil, AFTCO, Triton Boats, Power-Pole, Berkley, Abu Garcia, Sunline, Valley Fashions, T-H Marine, Atlas, G-Juice, Powertex Group.

Joey McCourt to join his sister Hailey in Ann Arbor

By J. Patrick Eaken
Press Sports Editor
sports@presspublications.com

Cardinal Stritch senior baseball player Joey McCourt says one of the best things about heading to play baseball at Concordia University is that his parents won't have to drive far to watch him.

The campus on Geddes Road is 45 minutes away, plus his sister Hailey is a standout player on the volleyball team there.

It took one trip up U.S. Route 23 for Joey to be convinced this is where he wants to play.

"It was just a visit, honestly, because I went everywhere else — to Owens, to another school, and it really was where, they say you know your school when you get there, and it really was kind of how it was," McCourt said. "Walking around with Coach (Zach) Johnston, he's really an awesome guy and I kind of felt like that was my spot from really the first 10 minutes we were walking with him. It's nice and home-like."

Stritch coach Mike McGee is glad to see two of his seniors, McCourt, and Kellen Garmon, move on to play collegiately, although Garmon has not finalized anything yet.

"McCourt had been our shortstop for a couple years, and he had great hands and I looked forward to him probably being our No. 3 hitter. He's kind of a quiet kid, and I could tell he was nervous (at his college signing)," McGee said.

"His head coach came down with one of his co-captains and made him feel real good. He's actually going from the Cardinal Stritch Cardinals to the Concordia Cardinals and his sister goes there right now, and my son graduated from there — Bobby McGee, he coaches at Clay (under Jim Phillips). I hope he enjoys it up there."

McCourt added about the signing ceremony, "It was my team and just who I wanted there — my family, (Concordia) coach brought one of his players down and we sat there, talked to him, put a jersey on and put a hat on. It was pretty cool. My sister (Stritch grad) goes there to play volleyball right now, which is one of the reasons I went there for a visit. She loves it."

For McCourt, there is more to Concordia than the drive to Ann Arbor. It's the fact that the Cardinals won an NCCAA World Series championship last year, finishing 39-20. Concordia defeated No. 3 seed Warner University, 6-2, to win the national title.

"I'm excited to go to Concordia and give them another four (years) and hopefully get them another one of those championships like the one they just won. I hope we have a shot at it next year," McCourt said.

McCourt is already communicating with coach Johnston about how to stay active before he arrives on campus, but wishes he had his senior year at Stritch back.

"It was a little bit of a bummer there. I have no choice (to stay conditioned)," McCourt said. "I went to one of their practices and you realize that the brand of baseball that they are playing in college is a lot different, not to say anything about the high school level."

Joey's sister Hailey is a 5-foot-7 junior setter who was an All-Wolverine-Hoosier

Kellen Garmon

Coach Mike McGee

Joey McCourt

Athletic Conference student-athlete. Last fall, she appeared in 21 matches, recording 41 kills, 307 assists (second on team), 148 digs and 63 points. In 2018, she appeared in 22 matches with 13 kills, 270 assists (second on team), 132 digs and 19 points, and in 2017 she appeared in 29 matches with 40 kills, 461 assists (first on team), 158 digs and 68½ points.

Joey, Hailey and another sister, Alexa, are the children of Joe and Tammi McCourt.

Narrowing his choices

Garmon likely would have had a breakout senior year at Stritch, says McGee, but playing college baseball still looms in his future.

"I have a kid named Kellon Garmon, and if I would have told him that for us to win you would have to run through the backstop, he would have done it. He was a good pitcher — led the league in ERA for a while last year, and he was a heck of a catcher," McGee continued.

"The problem with the pitcher-catcher combination, let's say you throw 80 pitches on Tuesday and we had a game on Wednesday, I can't put you behind the plate because then you have to throw it back to the pitcher 80 times, so I had another position for him, too. He's a heck of a kid and he'll do anything for the team."

So the problem for both was not playing their senior years and putting out the kind of numbers they would have liked. McGee says that Garmon originally had Findlay and Bluffton universities on his radar, but that has changed to Franciscan University of Steubenville and Finlandia University in Hancock, Michigan.

“...if I would have told him that for us to win you would have to run through the backstop, he would have done it.”

He wants to pitch and has a good fastball, curve ball, slider and change-up in his itinerary. No matter what, Garmon says continuing his baseball career is a top priority.

"It's hard work. You can pretty much do anything, and you don't always have to throw hard to be a good pitcher," Garmon said. "I was looking at Bluffton a little bit. To me it's pretty important because my dad (Whitmer graduate Brian Garmon) was a really good baseball player and he still plays softball."

"I was just wanted to be like him. He's been playing catch with me a little bit and he's helped me a lot with my pitching because he was a pitcher when he played, but he hasn't been able to as much since he got his hip replaced, but he's able to do it every once in a while."

While his dad helps him stay conditioned, he finds other ways to keep busy during this coronavirus pandemic.

"Right now, I've just been outside playing basketball and soccer and working out in my basement," Garmon said.

Shutdown didn't stop Hochanadel from workouts

By J. Patrick Eaken
Press Sports Editor
sports@presspublications.com

Don't be surprised to see Genoa graduate Brock Hochanadel running through Clay Center or Genoa. It's what he likes to do.

Hochanadel did get to participate his senior year with the track team because of the coronavirus pandemic, but that will not stop him from continuing to run, even competitively.

"My favorite part about running is the satisfaction you get after a workout. You get to see yourself progress and get better," Hochanadel said. "Running is something I definitely want to keep doing. It's just a hobby and pastime that promotes a healthy lifestyle. Right now, I'm just running now and again for fun, but I'll probably do a couple 5Ks here and there."

That's what Genoa track coach Luke Hodulik likes to see.

"That's one of those things I like to do with all of them," Hodulik said. "I want to promote a healthy lifestyle for life once they graduate, so I love to see the guys who go on to compete in 5Ks or whatever it is. That's awesome and I'm sure he'll be one of those guys who does that."

As a junior, Hochanadel helped Genoa score points in middle distance events, although he didn't set any school records. He did place in various events, including at the Northern Buckeye Conference meet. His senior year, who knows what he might have achieved.

"Brock is a guy who in the past was a middle distance guy, but he ended up being pretty good in the longer sprints," Hodulik said. "So, he was doing the 200 and 400 for us and the 4x200 and 4x400 relays. He's got some good speed, but he also enjoys distance, so he was really trying to focus on the 800 this year. He was probably still going to be in the mix for the 200, 400 and 800 — somewhere in that range."

"He's one of those guys who you love having on your team. Even though he wanted to be a middle distance guy, we wanted him to be in the longer sprints the last couple years and he did it. He didn't even ask any questions about it. He said whatever the team needs, and we put him there and he was exactly what we needed," Hodulik continued.

"We had him on a training program to focus on the middle distance and the 4x800, and he was just knocking it out. That is a really tough training program to be on. Even once the shutdown started, he was just going at it, gangbusters. When we got word that the season was canceled, he actually was just getting ready to go out and run and he went and did it anyways. It's in his mindset."

Hodulik says Hochanadel got good enough over the offseason that he might be able to run at the NCAA Division III level. However, that is not in Hochanadel's plans, although college is. He has had to overcome other issues, too, which made the senior season shutdown even harder.

"He is a senior who has battled some injuries in his career. He is finally healthy and has been training extremely hard. We have been providing the entire team with workouts since our season was suspended, and Brock has not missed a beat since we last saw the team in person. He is very mature," Hodulik said.

"He was injured — that was the thing," Hodulik continued. "He had a nagging injury as a sophomore and junior. That's the thing that was so bad about it is he was finally healthy, and he was as focused as he could possibly be. He was going to have a great year. He is one of those guys who really put in everything he could put in for three-plus years and he was ready to finally take off and just didn't get the chance."

Hochanadel added, "It's a real bummer being that you worked so hard to try and go out with a bang. You know, there is really nothing you can do about it so it's a pill you kind of have to swallow and move forward."

Hochanadel did participate in sports over the winter, rejoining the Genoa wrestling program. That's how far he was going to go just to keep in shape away from the track season.

"The offseason I actually joined the wrestling team to try and get an extra level of athleticism," Hochanadel said. "I wrestled biddy a couple years, but I took a hiatus from that, so I came back for one year. It was a lot of fun, lot of hard work and a lot of hours, but I'd say it was worth it."

Inspirational Message of the Week: Being Who You Are

Part of the difficulty of authenticity, of being who we truly are, is that we are free to be whoever we want to be. There are of course limits to human freedom, but within those limits we are free to act honestly or dishonestly, to act with integrity or not, depending on the circumstances. Perhaps the reason why the sting of conscience can be so painful is that when we did the thing that we now regret, we know that we could have done otherwise. When we make a conscious decision to lie, or steal, or otherwise act contrary to the dictates of conscience, we are bound to regret it later. It's also difficult to be who we truly are because we are all in the process of becoming who we shall be. The act of becoming is perhaps the essential project at the core of humanity. It is the life project that every human being must work out, on their own, with fear and trembling, but also with quiet reflection. Who are you, really, and who are you becoming? Answering these questions requires being honest with oneself, and involves reflecting not only on issues of character, but also on our relationships with others, and our careers, and even our likes and dislikes. "The Lord does not look at the things people look at. People look at the outward appearance, but the Lord looks at the heart." —1 Samuel 16:7 NIV
